The Commercial property sector within the UK continues to grow and is now valued close to £870 Billion and, when placed in context, represents circa 13% of the total UK built environment.

The Commercial Property industry alone directly employs almost one million employees, which equates to circa one in every 35 jobs within the UK. With forecasted growth in developing Technology based solutions the requirement for high quality & flexible Commercial property is likely to continue for the foreseeable future.

Within the wide variety of properties contained across the breadth of the Commercial sector the necessity to install fully 'Compliant' Fire, Life Safety & Security systems, that meet legislative standards, has never been greater in order to safeguard both the Commercial property and employees.
